

Environmental Carton Sealing...Is Green Important?

Your Needs...Our Solutions

Problem: You're not sure how to satisfy your company's and customer's desire to find an environmental approach to carton-sealing.

Many companies are still using plastic tape to seal their cartons. Plastic tape is made from petroleum, a non-renewable fossil fuel. It does not biodegrade naturally. Plastic tape is complex and expensive to recycle.

Solution: Switch from plastic tape to paper water-activated tape (WAT).

Made from trees, most paper tapes are economically biodegradable and recyclable. Trees are a renewable resource. Plastic tape is neither easily recycled nor made from renewable materials. If you and your customers are concerned about environmental impacts, paper water-activated tape is the right carton-sealing approach.

Plastic Tape VS. Paper Tape

Plastic tape is not "earth-friendly";
Switch to paper water-activated tape, an easy way to "green" your carton seal.

Why Better Packages?

To use WAT, you need a water-activated tape dispenser. To maximize productivity and cost-effectiveness, you need to choose the right dispenser and manufacturer. Better Packages dispensers are quite simply, the best dispensers on the market.
